Wants Survey Of Garbage Collection Costs

The possibility of municipal garbage collection has arisen.The board of health has decided appointment of a committee to study the situation.At its meeting Monday night, the board discussed present problems of garbage collection by individuals, with Sanitarian Manuel as six complaints in a short per-

Still Hopes To Receive Armed Forces Work But May Move Other Operations To Shawsheen

WILL CALL FOR BIDS ON RT. 28 CONSTRUCTION

The first highway connection to the Route 28
bridge across the Merrimack may be underway by the year's end.State Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe, while inspecting the bridge
sub-structure last week,
said bids will be requested before the end of the year on two highway sections.
One will run northerly from the Methuen side — the other will go southerly through West Andover. The commissioner said temporary connections to the sections and the bridge would be built if it appears that other sections will not be built on schedule, but felt that work would probably continue on a regular schedule until the whole highway is done.The Raytheon Manufacturing company's timetable for operation of the Shawsheen Mills has been upset.Atty. Charles Reznick told the Townsmen this week that government orders have not been received as expected, causing a delay in preparing the mill for production of Armed Forces equipment.However, Raytheon anticipates either receiving the government contracts or using the mills for some other operation.Reznick, admitting the delay in plant renovation, said the firm is "pushing to get the contracts" but could set no time limit within which they might be available.Meanwhile, operations at the mill are on "pretty much a standby" basis involving normal maintenance, Reznick declared.

Timetable Upset

While the original timetable called for employment of up to 1000 persons by a year from November, Reznick said it now may

Going Forward With Reservoirs

Bids on two steel water-storage tanks may be received by the BPW as early as Sept. 1.The board of public works took steps Monday night to insure rapid completion of specifications and call for bids on the two reservoirs.The members unanimously hired Camp, Dresser and McKee — the firm which made specific recommendations for improvements to the water distribution system — to draw the specs and to supervise eventual construction.The firm will work on a seven percent fee — with two-and-one-half percent specified for supervision and the balance for design work in connection with the specifications, contracts and working drawings.The decision to call for bids came quickly after a warning two weeks ago by Joseph Lawler, representing the engineers, that delivery would be influenced by the rapidity with which a contract

the subject of a special article under preparation by the board of public works.Committee members, consultants and members of the Taxpayers association agreed that the sewer extension could best be accomplished by the BPW rather than providing a septic tank disposal system for the school alone at a cost approximately the same as that for the sewer main.Also lopped off the original estimate is some $15,000 from the contingency fund. It stood at $85,000 until Tuesday night
— an amount equal to 10 percent of the over-all cost of the project. The new figure is somewhat over five percent.

be somewhat longer before employment reaches that point. And it follows that the prediction of employing 5000 persons within a five-year period may also be over-optimistic. Reznick pointed out, however, that it might yet be possible to live within the predicted timetable if the contracts are immediately signed.

Other Production Possible

"We'll probably move something else in if there are no contracts," he declared. But until negotiations with the government are either successful or fall through, he said, the firm does not want to prepare the building for any other type of work.

The warehouse is being used,
Reznick said, for storage purposes.

Rumors Squelched

It is recalled that the original Raytheon statement, at the time of signing a lease on the property, predicted immediate repairs and renovation to put the buildings into shape for electronics production. When that work didn't begin as planned, the town buzzed with rumors concerning the firm's intentions. Some freely theorized that the giant electronics firm would never use the mills as planned. However, Reznick's comments this week gave no hint of any plan to leave the buildings idle, except as a temporary measure pending contract negotiations.

Decision In May

Raytheon announced its decision to lease the buildings, with option to buy, on May 22. It had taken an option on the plant in February until May 15. That option was extended for several days until definite plans were announced a week later. It had been anticipated that work would start in the mills by mid-June - a date set by members of the firm when they appeared before the appeals board for a zoning variance. Permission was speedily granted by the three-member board as there was no opposition from townspeople.

The mill includes about a million square feet of space and has been idle since 1953. At its peak as a textile plant, the mills employed some 2500 persons but electronics production allows more than double that number to work in the same space.

This view of the West school addition shows the steel uprights which project beyond the finished surface of the building. The panels below the windows are blue. At right is one wall of the new entrance. There has been considerable comment to the effect that maintenance of the steel, exposed to the elements, will be a major problem involving yearly painting. Experts have said the work will necessarily be fussy, like striping sash, because of the close proximity to the panels and windows. (Leone)

Chief Requests Fourth Sergeant But Won't Enlarge Department

Police Chief David Nicoll has asked the selectmen to approve a fourth sergeant.

The move would not increase the permanent force, however.

Nicoll explained that it is now impossible to cover all shifts, making it necessary to either bring a sergeant back on some occasions or turn the shift over to an officer. He said the men should get paid for the extra responsibility if they are to do the work.

The request was taken under consideration until Selectman Stafford Lindsay returns from vacation.

Nicoll suggested that a new civil service list be established by having another examination for the post. Until that time, following approval of the selectmen, he would have an officer act as sergeant, drawing a sergeant's pay. It is $10 higher than the officer's pay.

Appointment of the fourth sergeant, the chief explained, would provide a man in charge for all shifts, including days when the chief is on call to go to court or is away from the station on police business.

MRS. ROSE IRENE LOUGH

The funeral of Mrs. Rose Irene (Markey) Lough, 445 South Broadway, Lawrence, was held Monday morning with a solemn high Mass of requiem in St. Patrick's church. Burial was in St. Augustine's cemetery, Andover.

Mrs. Lough was born in this community, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter H. Markey. She was employed for many years at the Tyer Rubber company and attended St. Patrick's church in Lawrence. She had lived in Lawrence for many years.

MOVIES FOR GROUP USE

The films available at the Memorial Hall Library for the month of August are both in color, and together would make up about an hour's entertainment. "American Cowboy" combines educational and entertainment values in the most desirable way. The year-round activities of the people who devote their lives to the raising of beef unfold realistically in this colorful motion picture. There is the excitement of the roundup, branding, life in the bunkhouse, the drive to summer pastures high up in the Rockies, the rodeo, winter feeding and raging blizzards.

"Men Of Gloucester" tells the story of the adventurous, work-filled lives of the people who inhabit this Massachusetts community. It shows a storm at sea and the anxiety of those ashore. Glimpses of the simple, warm-hearted home life of these hard-working people make a film that many audiences have asked to have repeated.

For booking, call the Memorial Hall Library.

Penalty Clauses A Must

The wisdom of including a penalty clause in all construction contracts — along with a completion date — has never been more apparent than at this moment.

For the lack of one has perhaps contributed to the delay and procrastination that results in unfinished additions to the Shawsheen and West schools. And in double sessions at the West.

It would be foolish to say that a penalty clause would have, by itself, forced the contractor to finish on time. But the presence of such a clause would certainly keep the contractor on his toes — well aware that delay would cost him money. And of course the inclusion of a completion date in a contract, upon which the penalty clause is based, should be an obvious requirement.

We don't blame the school committee too much — for the contractor was awarded the contracts some months ago and gave verbal assurances that the work would be done far in advance of the September opening. It seemed, at the time, so apparent that the work could be done in plenty of time that it was, probably, felt to be somewhat foolish to talk about completion dates and penalties.

Yet now we realize that such items are compulsory, no matter when a contract is awarded in relation to the time we hope it will be completed.

Good Idea

The subject of municipal garbage collections has come up before. And some persons have expressed a willingness to let the subject alone — preferring to allow private contractors to pick up the refuse for a fee paid by the individuals involved.

We feel strongly that a study committee of the type proposed by the board of health is a necessity. There have been recurrent problems — garbage not picked up being the major one — with the present system. Thus it is sensible for the town to explore the cost factors of municipal collection — let's find out just how much it would cost in taxes. Then we can make a sensible decision based on our ability to pay for the collections.

It seems there can be little doubt that some steps are necessary to assure proper collection. And so it will be mostly a financial problem that can only be decided when the proposed study committee has gathered all the facts and presented them for study.

Town House Looks Good

A few complimentary words are due on the looks of the new town hall offices.

The rooms are attractive in their green combination and provide a more pleasant appearance to the visitor as well as a more pleasing atmosphere for personnel than did the old, dark-brown finish.

We offer our congratulations to those responsible for the work.

about non-collection of garbage.

"Actually, we're running out of collectors," warned Chairman Charles O. McCullom. The board suggested that the special committee, if approved, study present private payments for garbage collection and compare the result with estimated costs per person for municipal collection.

Henry Wolfson, president of the Taxpayers association, said he believes his association will approve the article but said it must be presented to the board of directors for a decision.

During the discussion it was pointed out that some towns have cut down their garbage collection as more and more homes are equipped with automatic disposal systems. However, if that practice became wide-spread here, it was pointed out, the sewer system couldn't take the load. It was estimated that 15 more gallons of water per day would overload the system.

be used in the special event, there will be special target shoots using cap and ball rifles — called muzzle loaders. And there will be trap shooting with muzzle-loading fowling pieces, actually antique shotguns.

Live turkeys will be the major prizes for the various shooting events.

The special "Kentucky Rifle" event will be arranged by Everett Woodhouse and Edmund Leland III of No. Andover. James D. Hamilton is general chairman of the affair, which last year was held as part of the club's annual field day.

Assisting the chairman will be John Keith, Clarence Cloutier, President Kenneth E. Wade, Edgar C. Haselton, Chester J. Harnden and Frank Patterson.

All shooting events will be open to the public, the committee has announced and refreshments will be available.

SECOND POLIO SHOTS COMING IN A WEEK

The board of health has announced that polio vaccine for all second shots will be available in a week or so.

The schedule for administering the vaccine will be announced later, according to Chairman Charles O. McCullom. Included are all pre-school, pre-natal, and youngsters up to 14. Doctors will also be provided with vaccine from the new shipment, McCullom said.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — August 1906

Christ church, closed for two weeks to allow extensive repairs to the organ, will reopen Sunday. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Nicholas Bayard Clinch of Emanuel church, Rockford, Ill.

The circus is coming to town next week, causing a lot of excitement.

One of the hottest fires and one of the most difficult in many years occurred Thursday afternoon when a shed on Pearson st. burned down. Several teams stored there were burned, with a loss of some $500.

This week's editorial comment concerns the action of the county commissioners in making Andover a single representative district. Speaker John Cole will presumably represent the new district, and probably would have been elected in the old district. The county commissioners are to be congratulated for making more single districts in the county as are similar boards in the other counties who have done the same. This is the first time in 52 years that the county has had a Speaker of the House.

Mrs. J. H. Merrill, 17 Salem st., celebrated her 93rd birthday Friday. Her four children were present as were many other members of the family through the fourth generation.

A loaded ice wagon broke down in the square Tuesday morning right at the junction of the Boston and Northern and Andover and Haverhill trolley lines. Fortunately, another wagon was available and the load shifted without a tie-up on the lines.

Miss Edna A. Brown of Galveston, Texas, has been named librarian of the Memorial Hall library. She is a native of Providence, R.I. and has been at the Galveston library for several years.

Jeremiah Cronin, the railroad crossing tender in Ballardvale, saved a local man from death beneath a train Thursday morning. The north bound train had just gone through and the Boston-bound train was due when Cronin hurried up the tracks, pushed the man out of the way and barely jumped from in front of the locomotive himself. It was the third time he has saved a life there.

The Watson-Park storehouse in Lowell Junction was burned to the ground this morning as firemen battled against a strong wind and fierce heat. A lack of water hampered the firefighting. The fire started about 10:20 last night and firemen were still battling the blaze at 4 a.m. today. Three tanks of highly explosive chemicals were barely carted from the scene before one wall of the building collapsed. A truck driver for the concern put the tanks on his truck as flames threatened both the chemicals and himself and was just clear of the wall when it collapsed. Damage was estimated at $20,000 in the worst fire here in a decade. A series of explosions early in the fire also drove firemen back.

The By-Pass was officially opened Saturday.

A bad fire caused about $3000 damage in an Argilla rd. home last Monday morning. The flames destroyed practically the entire ground floor of the one-and-a-half story structure. A barn attached to the house was saved, however.

Local residents are pressing their request that the bus company run more buses and add stops between the square and Hidden rd. They point to the longish walk required now as there are no stops beyond the square. The bus company has said the service can't be expanded because it would require another new bus.

10 Years Ago — August 1946

A Shawsheen woman rescued four youngsters at Salisbury beach last Monday afternoon, putting into good use her experience life saving training gained partially at Pomp's pond. She swam, fully clothed, out after two of the youngsters and made two more trips after the other two. The children, between 9 and 15 years old, were out way over their heads and were being carried to sea when the local woman went to their rescue.

Work started this week on installing traffic lights at the corner of Main and Salem streets and Chapel ave. and Main st. The two locations have been considered highly dangerous, especially during school seasons when the foot traffic is very heavy.

The summer school for veterans will conclude next Friday. Under the direction of Bernard Kellmurray, the school has been carried on at Punchard.

The 75 pupils of the Ballardvale Vacation Bible school took part in closing exercises Monday evening at the Union Congregational church. The Rev. Arnold Kenseth gave the address of welcome.

One is an "assistant veterinary surgeon" at a local "chemist" — drugstore to us and the other is a hair dresser. Our "Mayor", not being a bachelor, is anxious to dispose of the communication to anyone interested.

Police Chief Dane reports a quiet week for the force, with only one peace-disturbing element — a prowler in the Elm and Summer street district over the weekend.

Celebrating their 39th reunion, eight members of the Punchard high school class of 1907 were entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Pike.

TOWN MEETING

Architect Agrees

Architect Hugh Stubbins agreed to the cut. However, he had earlier made himself clear: "It should be understood that, if the estimates are cut, I don't want to be blamed if you have to ask for more money later on". When the time came to actually slash the previous estimate, however, he appeared agreeable to the drop in contingency fund.

The committee and three of its consultants - John Irwin, John Sullivan and Atty. Charles Hatch - with members of the Taxpayers association, Allyn Sears, Harold Waller and Paul McKinnon, had gone over the plans. Some discussion of lowering the cost below $900,000 had brought repeated objections from the architect. He said an estimate of $17 per square foot is a good one - explaining that a very recent bid on a Lowell school came in at that figure. It wasn't until Taxpayers president Henry Wolfson read a highly critical statement and promised to read his statement at town meeting that the cost was whittled down.

Wolfson Urges Low Cost

In his statement, Mr. Wolfson reminded the committee that his association had suggested $850,000 as a suitable sum for a school - and said the association wouldn't object if the figure was slightly higher. But the group wouldn't listen to anything close to $900,000 or over.

Several school committee members suggested that it would be far better to have a united opinion on the school at the special town meeting than to have dissent which might imperil the building. At that point it was decided to take the sewer construction figure out of the estimate and to slash the contingency fund by $15,000.

Earlier, the three consultants present had given their unanimous approval to the plans. They also approved the cut in the estimate.

Sewer Problem

The vexing sewer problem was finally left this way - a separate article will be inserted in the warrant, probably by the BPW, calling for money to extend the sewer main. Possibly another article, asking about the same amount of money, will be inserted for a septic tank system. The voters will then have a chance to express their opinion on sewer extensions there. Members pointed out that there are several homes that might be serviced, plus future extensions of considerable benefit to residents.

Economy Needed

Mr. Wolfson's statement hammered hard on the need for economy - warning that two or three other schools must be built here in the future. In it, he reviewed the comments of all architects interviewed before selection of the Stubbins firm - and said all but one agreed that the school could be built for $850,000.

Mr. Stubbins, remarking that the discussion was worthwhile, said no architect could guarantee a project cost - because the architect doesn't bid the jobs. The contractor sets the price, he explained, and no estimate can be guaranteed. Stubbins pointed out that his firm's selfish interest dictates building an economical school, because so many communities are looking for that type of building. Thus, if the school here is economical, it means more work for the firm.

John Irwin, one of the committee's consultants, agreed that no architect can set a flat price prior to actual bidding.

Commenting on the Taxpayers' belief that the architect was chosen despite his unwillingness to agree to a $850,000 top price, Member Frederick Allis Jr. pointed out that research into all the architectural firms was based on more than just dollars.

Complete agreement on the final price was obtained, despite initial differences. And Mr. Wolfson said his organization will state its approval at town meeting.

POLICE FIND
WRECKED AUTO

Police found a Lowell automobile, reported stolen in that city, completely wrecked and abandoned on River rd. about 1 a.m. Aug. 3.

Patrolman Jacob Jacobson found the car while on his way home from duty. Patrolmen George Porter and Russell Berthel investigated. Police said the car apparently had hit two boulders, sideswiped a fence, struck a stone wall and then snapped a guy wire on a fence post.

The car registration was given to Lowell police and they reported that a resident of the city reported his car stolen about 2:15 a.m.

Wedding...

DUSSAULT - BOULANGER

At a pretty summer ceremony in St. Augustine's church Aug. 4, Miss Marguerite Boulanger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boulanger, 46 North st. was united in marriage with Gerard J. Dussault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Almeric Dussault, 161 May st., Lawrence. The Rev. Henry B. Smith celebrated the 9 o'clock nuptial Mass. Miss Mary Lanigan was the organist and Armand Morrisette was vocalist.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and was preceded to the altar by Mrs. Claire Guilmette, sister of the bride, as matron of honor; and Miss Georgette Dussault, sister of the groom and Mrs. Pauline Wenzel, cousin of the bride as bridesmaids.

The bride wore a floor length white gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over slipper satin. She had a lace fitted bodice with an illusion neckline outlined with lace appliques and standup collar, studded with iridescent sequins and pearls and long pointed sleeves. Her finger tip veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of lace, sequins and pearls. She carried a cascade of white roses centered with an orchid.

The matron of honor wore ice blue Chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta, designed with a fitted lace bodice and matching bolero. She wore a band of flowers and tulle, and carried pick roses arranged on a lace fan with ribbon streamers. The attendants wore similar gowns in pink and yellow and carried fans with roses and streamers matching their head pieces.

Armand Guilmette was best man and the usher duties were performed by Phillip and Joseph Dussault, brothers of the groom.

After the reception at the LaSalle Social hall, the couple left on a trip to Canada. The new home will be at 46 North st.

The bride is a graduate of St. Augustine's school and is employed by the C.B.S. Hytron company in Danvers. The bridegroom, an Army veteran, is a graduate of St. Anne's grammar school and the Central Catholic High school and is employed by Arnold Motor co.

could be let. He spoke of the steel strike as one factor to be considered, with a pile-up of orders resulting in a longer wait for the tanks.

Must Take Land

Another factor considered by the board concerns the necessity of taking land on Prospect hill. A special article will be inserted in the special town meeting next month asking voters to authorize seizure. It was made necessary because the Trustees of Public Reservations, who hold the land, are restricted by law from selling or otherwise disposing of the land. The trustees have given verbal approval of the town's plan to take the land, however.

Could Buy Separately

Thus, the call for bids will ask a total price for both tanks and will also ask the price on each tank individually, so that the Ward Hill reservoir could be started if some problem arises that would prevent starting both. Lawler pointed out that a much better price can be obtained by asking for proposals on both tanks, however.

The firm's estimate, contained in its recommendations, is $57,000 for an 800,000 gallon tank and $75,000 for a one million gallon tank.

THE BAND OF THE 1ST BN. THE ROYAL IRISH FUSILIERS will play during the afternoon, by kind permission of the Commanding Officer, Lieut.-Col. G. J. Hamilton, D.S.O., O.B.E.

The invitation duplicated here is the one received by Mrs. Arthur H. Reading, 303 Andover st., when she visited Andover, England. The section crossed out in the lower left corner was the address of the mayor's secretary to whom replies should be sent. But Mrs. Reading's invitation could only be delivered the day of the event and no reply was needed.

Mrs. Arthur H. Reading, 303
Andover st., was recently a visitor in Andover, England.

No sooner had she checked into a hotel than an invitation to be "At Home" of the Mayor and Mayoress, Councillor and Mrs.
Frank May arrived.

As quoted in the Andover Advertiser, Mrs. Reading said "I barely had time to change" before going to the reception. The Mayor and Mayoress were hosts to several hundred persons.

Mrs. Reading remained in Andover for three days. While there, she saw what remains of the airfield at which her son, Lt. John H. Reading, served before he was killed in France in 1945.

During her trip, Mrs. Reading also visited Wassigny, France, where the accident occurred that took her son's life.

She left Andover May 20 and went aboard the Empress of Britain for the journey over. She took the Empress of Scotland on the return trip, arriving here July 13.

Erickson Sees Double Session At West School

Work may be almost completed at the West school by Sept. 10 — but even contractor Leander Marion admits the date is optimistic.

And the Shawsheen school addition will be at least that much delayed, if not more.

Marion, Edmond McMahon of the Perley F. Gilbert associates, and the school committee debated completion dates at a meeting Tuesday night. Clerk of the Works Abbott Batchelder was also present.

Marion said the West school work is now ready for the plasterers, to whom he has sent a registered letter of notice. It will take at least a week to plaster the addition, possibly more. Painting must follow, along with other details.

Supt. Edward I. Erickson, who has repeatedly warned of double sessions at the West school unless the structure is ready, said he still believes it necessary to plan them. After the meeting Tuesday he said he couldn't see how the building will be ready on time and will proceed on the belief that it won't.

Marion pointed out that a sub-contractor on the Shawsheen job has now realized that only half the job was included in its low bid of $4000 for exterior and interior windows and similar equipment. He said the estimator figured half the job and marked his work "repeat" — but when it came time to submit the bid, the figure was not doubled. Thus, the firm is actually committed to a job worth up to $8000 for a bid of $4000.

If the point isn't settled soon, he said, there will be another delay at that school.
